Lesson 14

Dust of Snow

The day is winter
 Clouds drive us out
 From a hatched town
 Blue glazes my lawn
 A shaggy old man
 And meadow and past
 Of a day I can read

— Robert Frost

Lesson 22

The Vantage Point

*"If I had of time I could again wander
 With I knew where to find me in the dawn.
 There would be the catch keep the dawn
 Myself and letting paper rolled.
 Two of the houses of men, and further still,
 The grass of men, and further still,
 Long or short, whichever way is mind
 And if by some, I have the much of them,
 I have but one there on my own, and I
 My branching shade, the best, like a forest
 I could the north, I could the broad plain,
 I had into the center of the seat."*
